There are links for "Forgot email?" and "Not your computer? Use Guest mode to sign in privately. Learn more". At the bottom left, the "Create account" button is highlighted with a red arrow, and a dropdown menu is open, showing three options: "For myself", "For my child", and "To manage my business". A second red arrow points to the "To manage my business" option. To the right of the "Create account" button is a blue "Next" button. At the bottom left, the word "English" is visible, and at the bottom right, there are links for "Help", "Privacy", and "Terms".

The screenshot shows the Google Play Console interface for creating a developer account. At the top, it says "Google Play Console" with a logo. Below that is a search bar with a purple "B" icon. The main heading is "Let's create a developer account". Underneath, it asks "Who are you creating an account for?" and provides a link to "Learn more about which account type to choose". There are two main options: "Yourself" and "An organisation or business". Each option has a brief description and a "Get started" button with a right-pointing arrow. To the right of each option is a colorful icon representing the account type. At the bottom, there is a note about the Google Account used for signing in and a "Switch accounts" link.
